ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

NOW FOR ROAD BUILDING

By WALTER C. WHITE

The release of labor and material incident to the demobilization of our army and the slowing down of the manufacture of war supplies, offers a golden opportunity for a program of road building more extensive than any in which the country has ever engaged. Not only must we make good the neglect which our roads have suffered during the period when road construction has been officially frowned upon, but we must go further and bring our entire system up to the standard of the famous roads of France.

While we often hear of the tremendous part played in the war by the Motor Transport, we are apt to forget that this part was made possible only because France has a splendid system of roads—not simply a good road here and a good road there, but a network of fine highways connecting almost every town and village in the country. Useful was this system before the war; during the war it proved the salvation of France; and now that the last shots have been fired, the roads may justly be termed one of the country's assets in the work of rehabilitation.

During my recent mission in France, as I traveled hour after hour over roads which were maintained in perfect condition almost up to the front line trenches, I could not help but compare what France was doing even in the midst of war, to the almost scandalous indifference which our country, in time of peace as in time of war, has shown toward the road question. I cannot help but feel that all of our soldiers when they return from France will demand that our roads be brought up to the French standard.

Let us anticipate that demand. Let every township, every county, every state, let our national government, begin to plan this very day to build roads adapted to the traffic of today and tomorrow. I need not argue the economic questions involved. That good roads soon pay for themselves many times over is known to every community which has made investments in this direction.

We have done our share to make the seas safe for the commerce of the world. Let us now turn some of our energies, released from war to the task of making our highways safe and practicable for internal commerce.

Are you preparing for future prosperity and comfort by saving regularly a part of your earnings? Will you be able to take advantage of opportunity for profitable investment when it comes? Could you weather a sick spell without going heavily in debt?

Be able to say YES to these questions a few months hence by starting a savings account with us with a part of your pay this week. Watching that account grow will stimulate your energies.

OUR COUNTRY—AND THEIRS.

Long live the Republic of Washington! Respected by mankind, beloved by all its sons, long may it be the asylum of the poor and oppressed of all lands and religions—long may it be the citadel of that liberty which writers beneath the Eagle's folded wings, "We shall sell to no man, we deny to no man, Right and Justice."

Long live the United States of America! Filled with magnanimous spirit, crowned by the wisdom, blessed by the moderation, hovered over by the guardian angel of Washington's example; may they be worthy in all things to be defended by the blood of the brave who know the rights of man and shrink not from their assertion—may they be each a column, altogether, under the constitution, a perpetual Temple of Peace, unshadowed by a Caesar's palace, at whose altar may freely commune all who seek the union of Liberty and Brotherhood.

Long live our Country! Oh, long through the undying ages may it stand, far removed in fact as in space from the old world's fuds and follies, alone in its grandeur and its glory, itself the immortal monument of Him whom Providence commissioned to teach man the power of Truth, and to prove to the nation that their Redeemer liveth.—From an address by John W. Daniel, United States Senator from Virginia, delivered in the Hall of the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., at the dedication of the Washington national monument, February 21, 1885.

COLUMBIA AS HARRISON SAW IT

"Columbia should have been the name of the western hemisphere—the republican half of the world—the hemisphere without a king on the ground—the reserved world, where God sent the trodden spirits of men to be revived; to find where all things were primitive, man's primitive rights."

"Royal prerogatives are plants that require a walled garden and to be defended from the wild, free growths that crowd and climb upon them. Pomp and laced garments are incongruous in the brush. Danger and hardships are commoners. The man in front is the captain—the royal commission to the contrary notwithstanding. The platoon and volley firing by the word would not do—the open order, one man to a tree, firing at his own will, and at a particular savage, was better. Out of this and like calls to do things upon his own initiative the free American was born. He thought he might get along with kings and imperial parliaments if they were benevolent, and did and allowed what he wished, but they were forever doing their own pleasure, as the way of absolutism always is. And so he found it necessary to remonstrate and then to resist." —President Harrison.

DR. J. P. GIBSON MAKING GOOD

The following letter is taken from the Star-Record, of Owenton, Ind., and was written by Dr. J. P. Gibson, a former resident of this city, now in the United States Army Medical Corps.

Dr. Gibson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Gibson, of this city, and was born and reared here, but for the past seventeen years has been a resident of Owenton, Ind., where he enjoyed a very lucrative practice in his profession. He is well known to many of the citizens of this city and county. The letter follows:

Base Hospital Camp Besuregnrd, La.
December 14, 1918.

Editor Star-Echo,

Dear Sir: May I have a little space in your periodical to greet my many friends in Indiana, including yourself? It would be impossible for me to write each one individually and I take this means to inform them of a few of my experiences since leaving Owenton.

I have enjoyed my experience since coming into the army, exceedingly. While I was not one of the fortunate ones to serve abroad, I consider that it has not been in vain to put on the uniform and to help in the great cause of freedom here in the United States. Important work had to be done here, and it fell to my lot to assist in that work.

I reached Camp Greenleaf, Chickamauga Park, Ga., Sept. 25, and was immediately inducted into an intensive course of training in the Medical Officers' Training Camp. Intensive is the right word, for from 6 A. M. to 9:30 P. M. every moment was utilized to the fullest extent. We were drilled and lectured and quizzed and taught French. There were no idle moments, and the man was considered a wonder who could find time to shave himself and write a letter home during the course of the day. One of the most delightful things was the horseback drills over the Chickamauga battlefield.

Our Sundays were given to us to do as we pleased. I spent many hours on the battlefields of Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge and Lookout Mountain. I was pleased to find among the many battle monuments a number erected to the memory of Indiana's sons who fought and died on that bloody field.

Another interesting feature is the old cannon which still occupy the positions they occupied during the battle. The same is true of Lookout Mountain, for on the very edge of those mighty rocks which crown old Lookout are some of the very guns that fired on Hooker's men as they climbed those heights. And, by the way, one would have to travel far to find more beautiful mountain scenery than is to be seen from Lookout Mountain. God has set the seal of beauty on the valley of the Tennessee.

After spending five weeks in Camp Greenleaf, I received orders to report to the Base Hospital at Camp Beauregard, La. The trip hither was very interesting. The train crossed Lake Ponchartrain, near New Orleans, and at one time we were out of sight of land. Then we came to New Orleans, a most peculiar city. From New Orleans my route lay through the sugar cane and rice fields of Louisiana.

During the last six weeks I have seen varied service in this Base Hospital. Two weeks were spent in pneumonia wards, then I was transferred to the ward for the treatment of Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis, epidemic form. Here I had some wonderful work in the treatment of this most interesting class of cases. Spinal punctures and intervenous injections of serum are used in the army treatment, and very successfully, too. In a series of fifteen cases I treated, there were no deaths. (Any one doubting this statement can see records in the hospital.)

We officers were rejoicing at the termination of the war and were expecting early discharge, when orders came to make this a convalescent hospital for overseas patients. Then our cheer turned to gloom, for we knew that for most of us this meant staying here.

The other day while we were at dinner our commander entered the mess hall and requested that no one leave until he got through. He then walked straight to me and asked for my military record. I gave it to him. Before I had ceased speaking he said, "Fine! Fine! You are the very man I am looking for. Report to me in the morning." The following morning I reported to him, he said: "Lieutenant Gibson, you are to have command of the overseas convalescent detachment. You will have thirty-seven patients arrive from France tomorrow. Open and equip Wards 13A and 13B to receive your patients. Lieutenant Nelson will be your first assistant. As your patient roster increases, more officers will be detailed to assist you. A competent staff of nurses and orderlies will be detailed to you." He then went into detail with his instructions.

So I have been highly honored in being placed in command of the overseas wounded sent to our hospital. I have since received another load of wounded, and now there are seventy of them. I am ordered to open more wards as the number increases. I have now one Captain and two Lieutenants on my staff. I have one of the highest and one of the most important positions on the hospital staff. There are certainly no idle moments for me. No position here involves more responsibility than mine, and I am working hard to make good. I think I have made good so far, or I would not have been selected for this important command.

It may interest some to know of the personnel of my staff in this overseas convalescent work. First, I have the three medical officers mentioned above; one soldier stenographer, three sergeants, two ward-masters, two night orderlies, ten day orderlies, two night nurses, two head nurses, ten day nurses, and six student nurses.

So you see, the boys who were wounded in France are well cared for. The poor fellows are certainly badly shot up. Some have as many as four or five different wounds over the body. But all are a cheerful lot and have wonderful stories to tell.

Maud Johnson, who is a student nurse here, and who is one bit of old Owenton transplanted to Beauregard, will leave in a few days for another camp. She is in fine health and spirits.

Last week I was delighted to receive a telegram from New Orleans, from Mrs. Gibson, asking me to meet her in Alexandria. She had a fine visit with me for several days, then left for a visit to relatives in Cincinnati.

Our camp is four miles north of Alexandria, La., which is a town of 30,000 population, a nice Southern town. We are 190 miles northwest of New Orleans.

The weather here is most delightful. We do not have fires and all windows and doors stand open. I am working without my blouse. The leaves are beginning to turn red and gold; for two weeks ago we had two light frosts, which are all we have had this winter.

I would be glad to hear from any old friends.

Yours respectfully,
LIEUT. J. P. GIBSON.

RESOLUTIONS OFFERED BY THE LADIES AID OF M. E. CHURCH.

WHEREAS, God has seen proper to remove from our church and aid society our beloved member, Maud Cole Faulkner, we do submit in prayerful humility to this dispensation and do realize that we have lost a faithful member.

BE IT RESOLVED, that we, her friends and associates in church and aid society, do hereby pledge ourselves that so far as in us lies, we will earnestly endeavor to redouble our diligence in church work that our Master's cause may be glorified through this dispensation.

RESOLVED, that we tender to the bereaved mother and husband our heartfelt sympathy in this, their sad bereavement, and beseech them to look trustingly to Jesus for comfort.

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the mother and husband of the deceased; a copy placed upon the record, and a copy sent to the Advocate with the request that same be published.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

The subject of the morning sermon was "Prayer". The main theme was "the need of prayer in revival". The pastor brought before the fact that prayer was the only means of approach to the Heavenly Father. The subject of the sermon at night was "Winning Souls".

The pastor called the Centenary Council together at 3:00 P. M., Sunday afternoon, at which time he drafted the Unit Leaders: Madames, A. W. Hopper, H. M. Oldfield, C. N. Sampson, J. S. Miller, R. N. Cornett, J. T. Beddow.

This committee met with the pastor and Dr. Franklin Monday evening. They selected their Units consisting of thirty-two members each. Surely this will prove a great power in awakening the church.

Sunday, January 26th, 1919, the revival opens. Let all pray that many may be saved.

KENTUCKY NEWS CULLINGS

An epitome of most important events transpiring in the state

Bowling Green.—J. C. Hammond, 41 years old, for 18 years local agent for the Standard Oil Company, hanged himself in the cellar of his residence. The body was found by his mother, Mrs. Laura Hammond. Hammond had been ill health for several years.

Perryville.—Fluis Bentz has been elected chief of police of Perryville, and has assumed his duties, and is straightening out things in that progressive little city on the banks of the Chaplin by arresting several "wild horses" and bringing them to the bar of justice.

Flemingsburg.—While Kenneth Hedrick, son of George Hedrick of Grange City, and a boy named McMeney fell and his gun was discharged, the load entering the Hedrick boy's stomach, causing instant death. The boys were about 12 years of age.

Flemingsburg.—Misses Eliza and Hardenia Marshall of the county have resigned as teachers in the high school here and Miss Ruby Day and Mrs. John Nixon have been elected to fill two vacancies. The remains yet to be supplied, caused by the marriage of Miss Pauline Rhodes.

Whitchester.—Mrs. H. A. Crutcher fell on the pavement in her yard and broke both bones in her right arm, just above the wrist. The ligaments in the arm were also badly torn and the injury is very painful. Mr. Crutcher, who has had pneumonia, is able to be up and about the house.

Ashland.—Frank Bennett Taylor of Greetop, just below Ashland, was drowned while skating on the black water near his home. He was 19 years old and just home from the Student Army Training School at Cincinnati. His body was recovered. He was the son of Mrs. Sallie Bennett Taylor.

Mt. Sterling.—Charles Ballard, who has been in the fighting near Verdun, and whose name had appeared in the casualty list, surprised his parents Christmas Day by returning home. Mr. Ballard had been wounded in one ankle and had been in a French hospital; also in one in the United States.

Louisville.—Hugh Scholtz, 21 years old, son of Charles Scholtz, Jr., president of Joseph Deumundo Fruit Co., 108 West Jefferson street, was arrested by Patrolman Lawyer on a charge of manslaughter, growing out of the death Monday of A. Rogowsky, who was struck by Scholtz's auto on Jefferson street, near Floyd.

Frankfort.—An amazing number of dogs in Kentucky have been escaping by the new law requiring them to be licensed. County clerks are sending requisitions to the Department of Agriculture for thousands of additional license blanks and tags, although they were issued considerably in excess of the number of dogs assessed last year. One clerk already had licensed a thousand more dogs than were assessed and was out of supplies.

Lexington.—Plans for the statewide meeting of merchants to be held in Louisville, to solve difficulty problems under postwar conditions, have been developed to include the proposed organization of a state merchants' association for protective purposes as well as adoption of economy measures, cooperation for protection against credit frauds, dishonest employees and harmful legislation, the publication of a monthly bulletin, giving new ideas on merchandising and promoting "shop early" campaigns, the establishment of credit rating associations and the adoption of uniform methods of collection, are some of the subjects that will be launched for discussion.

Winchester.—A wreck occurred about twelve miles from Paris on the Paris pike when the car in which Rev. Archdeacon Bedford, Henlyton, Bedford and Anna Nelson were riding collided with a Ford car in which Mr. Dennis, wife and two children were riding. The car in which Rev. Mr. Bedford was riding was driven by a chauffeur from Paris, and as to how the accident occurred is unknown to both parties. One wheel of his car was knocked off and the front badly damaged. Miss Bedford and Miss Nelson received several bad bruises while Mr. Bedford escaped without any injuries. In the other car Mrs. Dennis received many injuries, knocking her front teeth out and cutting her face badly. The child was knocked from the car several feet, but escaped unharmed.

Frankfort.—With more purebred swine in Kentucky than ever before in its history and more swine than for the last twenty years, the loss from hog cholera has been reduced in the last six years from over $200,000,000 to less than $200,000. Dr. S. F. Musselman, state veterinarian, said in statement just sent to Washington. The use of vaccine and education in the care of hogs have accomplished the results. The hog industry was waiting a few years ago because farmers were losing from cholera more than they could make from the hogs that survived.

Frankfort.—Y. D. Mangum was re-appointed chief of police of Frankfort by Mayor W. S. Ross. Policemen named were M. T. Ellis, Fred L. Gordon, William Haydon, Charles Mitchell, R. G. Montgomery, O. C. Scott, John L. Shields, James Stafford and E. Hobbs Taylor. There was no change in the force.

Paris.—There seems to be no limit to the high prices being paid for Bourbon county land. All previous records were broken at the sale of the farm of William and Lou Taylor, located near Paris on the North Middlesex pike, the various tracts selling as follows: The home place, containing 100/- acres, was sold in four tracts, as follows: $1/2 acre to William H. Whaley for $552 per acre; 33/- acres to the same for $800 per acre; 10/- acres to Charles Peckford at $291 per acre, and 51/- acres to John Sauer for $202.50 per acre.

Harrodsburg.—The heavy rain caused a tremendous rise in Harrods Creek, which flows through this city, and many homes along the stream were partially inundated, especially at the Warwick street bridge and below there. Numerous families moved out, but many remained in their homes moving into the upper stories.

Lexington.—All children attending the city schools were inoculated with the Mayo serum to prevent influenza and pneumonia. The inoculation was given only with the consent of parents or guardians, and to gain this consent Sup't. M. A. Cassidy sent a letter to the parents of all the students explaining the serum and the good that has been done by it.

Lafayette.—George W. Findley, aged 47, committed suicide at his home by taking green. He had been in bad health and was despondent over his neglected farm work. When he told his wife what he had done, she called the doctor and antidotes were administered promptly. He seemed to be out of danger, but in about five hours was taken worse and died.

Henderson.—With the thermometer hovering about the zero mark, the residence of Mrs. Robert Miller and daughters, Mrs. S. B. Hume, Misses Sallie and Bessie Miller, caught fire and, despite heroic work on the part of the fire department, the upstairs was gutted, the roof burned off and considerable damage done below stairs. The loss is estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000.

Danville.—No matter what may be the result of the Internal Revenue Department's plans to redistribute Kentucky revenue districts, Danville, it seems, will lose its revenue office. Bruce Taylor, special agent for the Revenue Department at Washington, came here and made an inventory of the office of Collector John W. Hughes and announced that the office will be removed to Frankfort.

Lexington.—The College of Engineering at the University of Kentucky will take up a number of research problems in their study this year. Prof. C. Paul Anderson, dean of the college, said recently, "The places that have been laid out are for an intensive study in testing of automobiles and their efficiency, the production and application of super heated steam and the study of the strength of metal at various temperatures.

Whitchester.—Practically all operations in the Eastern Kentucky oil fields were shut down during the heavy rains and the freezing up of the water lines in the various sections. In this section of the mountains the oil men who were in the fields at the time of the hard rains and were unable to return to their homes and were water bound in the sections where they were located, although they have been unable to resume operations.

Frankfort.—An amazing number of dogs in Kentucky have been escaping by the new law requiring them to be licensed. County clerks are sending requisitions to the Department of Agriculture for thousands of additional license blanks and tags, although they were issued considerably in excess of the number of dogs assessed last year. One clerk already had licensed a thousand more dogs than were assessed and was out of supplies.

Louisville.—Plans for the statewide meeting of merchants to be held in Louisville, to solve difficulty problems under postwar conditions, have been developed to include the proposed organization of a state merchants' association for protective purposes as well as adoption of economy measures, cooperation for protection against credit frauds, dishonest employees and harmful legislation, the publication of a monthly bulletin, giving new ideas on merchandising and promoting "shop early" campaigns, the establishment of credit rating associations and the adoption of uniform methods of collection, are some of the subjects that will be launched for discussion.

Winchester.—A wreck occurred about twelve miles from Paris on the Paris pike when the car in which Rev. Archdeacon Bedford, Henlyton, Bedford and Anna Nelson were riding collided with a Ford car in which Mr. Dennis, wife and two children were riding. The car in which Rev. Mr. Bedford was riding was driven by a chauffeur from Paris, and as to how the accident occurred is unknown to both parties. One wheel of his car was knocked off and the front badly damaged. Miss Bedford and Miss Nelson received several bad bruises while Mr. Bedford escaped without any injuries. In the other car Mrs. Dennis received many injuries, knocking her front teeth out and cutting her face badly. The child was knocked from the car several feet, but escaped unharmed.

Frankfort.—There seems to be no limit to the high prices being paid for Bourbon county land. All previous records were broken at the sale of the farm of William and Lou Taylor, located near Paris on the North Middlesex pike, the various tracts selling as follows: The home place, containing 100/- acres, was sold in four tracts, as follows: $1/2 acre to William H. Whaley for $552 per acre; 33/- acres to the same for $800 per acre; 10/- acres to Charles Peckford at $291 per acre, and 51/- acres to John Sauer for $202.50 per acre.

Frankfort.—Jerry Delph, sentenced to four years from Lexington, had his sentence commuted to one year by Governor Stanley, because a man jointly indicted got only one year.

HAVE YOU FAITH IN KNOX COUNTY?

IF YOU HAVE NO FAITH
IN YOUR OWN COUNTY

WE HAVE LOTS OF IT AND HAVE ALREADY CONTRACTED TO PUT DOWN TWENTY WELLS OR MORE AT ONCE

We have production in Oklahoma--one 35 barrel well and one gasser--but we have more faith in Knox County. We have several thousand acres of choice leases in Wyoming and Montana--but we have more faith in this county from shallow drilling. We already have one producing well in this county and expect to have four new wells completed each month--perhaps more.

MONEY IN KNOX COUNTY OIL

There is money to be made in oil in Knox County and big money. With twenty or thirty wells there should be good, big money made in this county. Lots of money was made here a few years ago when oil was selling for 60c--it is now $2.60. We believe, with those that have great faith in this county, that oil will be found in large quantities in the famous Irvine sands at 2500 to 3000 feet. When we have secured production from shallow drilling to give us funds to do so we are going down to this sand and see what's there. If you are with us then you will be delighted with the results--or we are badly mistaken. We will make you money on your investment with shallow drilling, but the BIG MONEY will come with the big wells that are sure to follow deep drilling in this county.

WE HAVE TWENTY TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY ACRES IN OLD KENTUCKY

All in proving shallow drilling fields and if we cannot make good to our stock-holders, its beyond our foresight to see why. The Management of the company has put in his own good money into it-and he seldom takes big chances--with his own money--therefore when he is willing to "take the chance" It must look mighty good. And he is now asking you, the readers of this paper, to "take a chance with him", in Knox county and other

40 c. Per Share
TODAY

After Midnight Jan. 20-50c

BUY STOCK IN A COMPANY THAT WILL DEVELOPE YOUR OWN COUNTY.

Why pay out good money in companies that are drilling in other counties and neglect your own? Help put Knox county on the map as Lee county at present. There is just as much oil here, we believe, as in Lee and lets get it out. It takes money to do it. If you are a good gambler and have faith in your home town and county get in with us at 40c per share. The price goes to 50c Jan. 20, at midnight. The par value is only $1 per share, fully paid and non-assessable. With each new well that comes in or that we add to our property the price will, without notice, be raised ten cents per share. That's fair--it's worth that much more as assets of the company. Write for full illustrated folder telling all about the company and its holdings in several states--just off the press. Fill in the coupons and make all money payable to the Wyoming-Nevada Oil Company, at par at Louisville, and secure your stock before the price advances.

fields that the company controls. Old man (F. L.) Harris, editor of the Oil and Mineral Journal, of Billings, Mont., is president and general manager of the Co., and his thousands of readers have made big money on his "OIL TRIPS" during 1918, and when he took active charge of the Wyoming-Nevada Oil Company in November he took hold to "WIN", and will be glad to have you send for a sample copy of his paper, free, and get acquainted with him, first hand. Also he wants you to join him in the Knox County development. Are you "game"?

PRODUCTION IN OKLAHOMA

We have drilled in two wells in Oklahoma--one reported at 35 barrels and a good gasser. But the cost to drill in that state is too heavy for the results obtained. That's why we have chosen Knox County with its shallow production, that's sure and certain, with almost every well put down. We have two very choice leases now and one has a very good producing well on the same, with assured production of from five to ten barrels. We have 150 acres on the Hammond property north of Barbourville that now has one flowing well adjoining and another in this week that promises to be as good if not better. This means we will get oil on this whole 150-acre tract. A contract will be let at once to put down ten or more wells here. We are after oil-firstly and to sell stock to help us put down more wells secondly.
